Routine Fly Ball

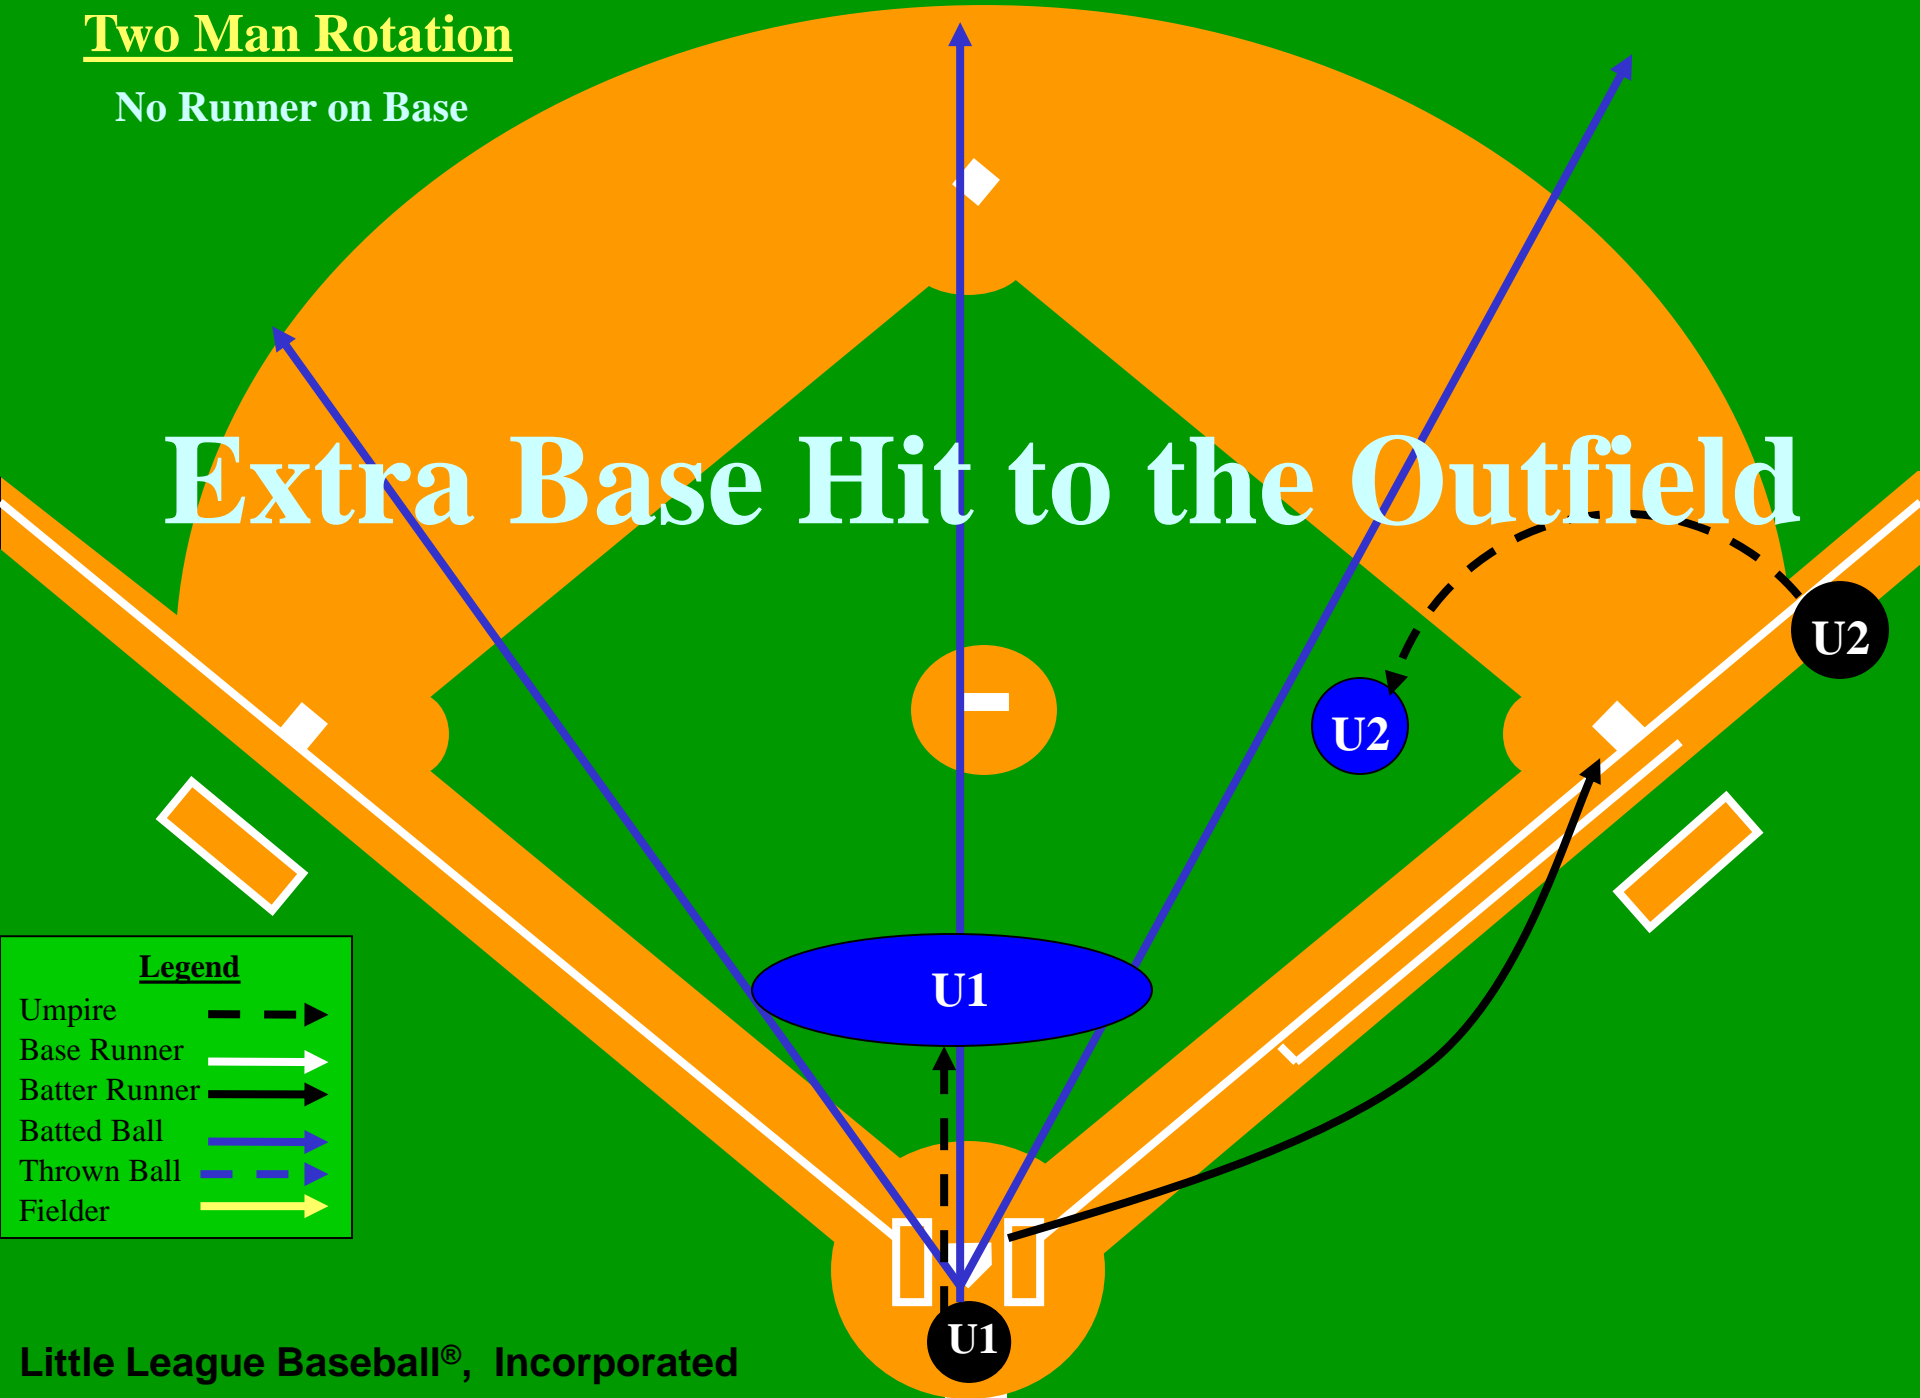

The diagram illustrates a routine fly ball play on a baseball field. The field is divided into an infield (green) and an outfield (orange). The pitcher's mound is marked with a white diamond. The home plate area is marked with a white square. The bases are marked with white diamonds. The pitcher is shown in a white box at the mound. The batter is shown in a white box at home plate. The ball is shown in a white diamond in the outfield. The text 'Routine Fly Ball' is written in large white letters across the center of the field. The legend in the bottom left corner defines the symbols used in the diagram: a dashed arrow for Umpire, a white arrow for Base Runner, a black arrow for Batter Runner, a purple arrow for Batted Ball, a blue arrow for Thrown Ball, and a yellow arrow for Fielder. The umpire rotation is shown with three blue ovals labeled U1 and two black circles labeled U2. U1 is positioned behind home plate, U2 is positioned in the outfield, and U2 is positioned at the first base line. The ball is shown being hit from the batter to the outfield, and then being thrown back to the pitcher. The umpire rotation is shown as a dashed line connecting the three umpire positions.
